25X1 21. [redacted] Al Tarabochia, Chief Investigator, Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Internal Security, called and referred us to a floor statement in yesterday's Record by Senator Richard Stone (D., Fla.) introducing a Senate Resolution 131 to require Senate approval of any change in American foreign policy toward Cuba. Tarabochia stated that Senator Stone introduced his Subcommittee's annual report describing the Soviet and Cuban intelligence efforts against the Venceremos Brigade. 25X1

[redacted] Called Mike Van Dusen, House International Relations Committee staff, at home in the evening to complain about the article in the Los Angeles Times on the briefing given the Subcommittee on Investigations by [redacted] NIO/SEA on 16 April. Van Dusen agreed with me that the article was distorted in major aspects and that any comments by the committee members on the briefing violated the agreement reached with him and Chairman Lee Hamilton (D., Ind.). Van Dusen was deeply disturbed by the revelation and said that the Chairman would be also and in response to his request for guidance, I suggested that at a minimum the Chairman might wish to consider calling Mr. Colby to provide necessary reassurances so that we can continue to comply with the interests of the Subcommittee in substantive intelligence information in consonance with the groundrules which must apply to avoid politicalization and to protect the sensitive information involved.

MEMORANDUM FOR:

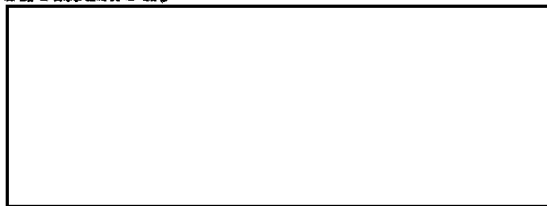

SUBJECT:

Material Bearing on the Central Intelligence Agency Section of the National Security Act of 1947

1. Forwarded in the attached box marked "Historical Materials, Central Intelligence Agency Section of the National Security Act of 1947," are documents used in the draft legislative history of the Central Intelligence Agency prepared on 25 July 1967.
2. Because of its uniqueness and historical significance, this material is being made available for review by the staff of the Select Committee to Study Governmental Operations With Respect to Intelligence Activities but not for retention or removal from Agency premises.
3. In my opinion, no security sensitive material requiring special internal processing is involved; however, some of it is third party information; some involving members of Congress and Committees; others involving White House personnel, heads of agencies, e.g., Secretaries of State, War, and Navy. It is assumed that because of the age of the material that such third party material would, at most, present a minimal deterrent to access.
4. Since this material represents the data basis for the draft legislative history referred to previously, and in view of the uniqueness and historical importance of the material, it is provided to you on a loan basis to be returned to this office after it has served its purpose.
5. With respect to similar material on the Central Intelligence Agency Act of 1949, enclosed is a copy of the statement of the Director of Central Intelligence before the House Armed Services Committee on 8 April 1948. This statement in effect is the basis of the enactment of the Act although delivered during the preceeding Congress. The legislative history of the 1949 Act is quite sparse in comparison to that of the Central Intelligence Agency section of the 1947 Act but we are attempting to identify and locate such additional material relating to that Act which is not otherwise available, e.g., committee reports, conference reports, floor debates, and we will forward such material to you as it is identified.
